

! HackYourHeart

Thank you for visiting this theme demo!

Since Bep cannot review content in my native language, I've relied almost entirely on AI for translation in this demo. If you spot any translation errors, please email me at Tajang@qq.com or submit a Pull request.

In this post, I've leveraged a variety of Markdown syntaxes and shortcodes, which I hope will serve as a useful reference and aid for your own content creation.

Because I frequently compete in offline environments, I've opted to load most of my CSS and JavaScript files locally to enable seamless local previews. This approach doesn't consume much storage space, and I typically employ a "on-demand" loading strategy: certain posts include specific CSS or JavaScript files, while others do not.

I'm a script kiddie who developed this theme in my spare time. Development of this theme began in mid-January 2025 and was completed in February 2025. Since then, I've been using it exclusively for personal purposes, and it was officially made available to the public on December 31, 2025.